

NEW COURSE NUMBERS

In 1995, the Idaho State Board of Education directed Idaho's public colleges and universities to develop a system called "Common Course Numbering" so that students and advisors might more easily understand which lower-division courses at the different schools are equivalent.

As a result, Idaho State University now has some different course numbers and names attached to existing courses. In a few cases, content has also been changed; you may check that by reading the course description in the catalog.

Here is the list of courses with changed names and numbers. Find the OLD course number and/or name in the RIGHT-HAND COLUMNS, and the NEW name/number will be on the LEFT. All courses are now listed in the Catalog by their NEW numbers and names. Isn't Progress Wonderful?
