OTHER CREATIVE / SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY

Ongoing: Development of a departmental brochure in collaboration with Janene Willer and Kathleen Kangas.

Ongoing: Qualitative research pertaining to graduate students' perceptions of AAC assessment and intervention in a camp setting.

Fall 2005 to present, Collaboratively developed the AAC Camp, a day camp for children who use assistive technology to communicate. The camp was created to meet the needs of children with severe expressive communication impairments. The camp is the only one available in the Pacific Northwest. This work was completed with Anne Kuhlmeier, a Speech-Language Pathologist employed at St. Luke's Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Services.

Fall 2004 to present, Developed and expanded the Adult Aphasia Group. Expanded the services offered by incorporating art therapy, use of visual media, visual supports, social games, book club and special events. In 2007 Martha Malkasian co-supervised the group and provided additional support and expertise.

Fall 2007 to present, Collaboratively developed the Caregiver Support Group, which meets bi-monthly during the academic year. The group is facilitated by a third year graduate student in counseling. The group is open to family members of persons in the Adult Aphasia Group. This work was completed with the assistance of Kristin Negilski, Diana Wasser and Dr. Judith Crews.
