Born 3 June 1975 in Sun Valley, Idaho. U.S. Citizen. Married with two sons (born 2001 and 2005).

Reedy-Maschner has conducted ethnographic research in the Alaskan communities of King Cove, Sand Point, and Nelson Lagoon on the Alaska Peninsula, False Pass and Akutan in the Aleutian Islands, Bethel and Nome in Western Alaska, and in Cordova in Prince William Sound. Her dissertation investigated the role of traditional commercial and subsistence economies in the construction and maintenance of Aleut identity. Research interests include indigenous rights and traditional representations of identity, social anthropology of northern peoples, Aleut culture and history, ecological anthropology, ethnohistory, subsistence and commercial fisheries, local knowledge of food harvesting and ecology in Alaska Native villages, oil and gas development near fishing communities, environmental and fisheries policymaking, and policy analysis.

PROFESSIONAL APPOINTMENTS

2007-present Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.

2010-present Assistant Professor, Department of History, Idaho State University.

2000-2007 Affiliate Research Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.

EDUCATION

1999-2004 Ph.D., Department of Social Anthropology, University of Cambridge, UK.

Dissertation title: Aleut Identity and Indigenous Commercial Fisheries.

Ph.D. Advisor: Barbara Bodenhorn, Pembroke College

1993-1997 B.A., Department of Anthropology, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

1991-1993 Dominican High School, Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin.

1989-1991 Twin Falls High School, Twin Falls, Idaho.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE/DEVELOPMENT

2010 Household survey for the Subsistence Study for the North Aleutian Basin (February 17-March 12) in Akutan, False Pass, Nelson Lagoon and Port Heiden, Alaska.

Conducted a comprehensive survey of every household in these four communities on harvesting, sharing, household economics, and mapping resource use.

2010 Alaska Board of Fisheries: Alaska Peninsula-Aleutian Islands Finfish meeting (Feb 2-6), Anchorage.

2009 Port Heiden, Alaska. November. Presentation to the Native Council of Port Heiden and ethnographic interviews for the North Aleutian Basin Subsistence Study.

2009 False Pass and Nelson Lagoon, Alaska. August. Ethnographic interviews and presentations to the tribal councils and community on the North Aleutian Basin Subsistence Study.

2009 Akutan, Alaska. March and April. Presentations to the Akutan Traditional Council, City of Akutan, and the school on the North Aleutian Basin Subsistence Study. Plus ethnographic interviews.

2008 Ethnographic Research, King Cove and Cold Bay, Alaska. March.

2008 Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITI). Completed online training in Human Subjects research.

2007 ATLAS.ti workshop, Woolf Consulting (Consulting and Training in Qualitative Research), Carpinteria, California. November 8-10.

2007 Sanak Project workshop, November 4-5, Idaho State University.

2007 Alaska Board of Fisheries: Arctic-Yukon-Kuskokwim Finfish meeting (Jan 31-Feb5) and Alaska Peninsula-Aleutian Islands Finfish meeting (Feb 6-11), Anchorage.

2006 Ethnographic Research in Bethel and Nome, Alaska.

- 2004-2006 Consultant for NSF #0327676 Molecular Perspectives on Aleut Origins, Michael Crawford, P.I.
- 2004 Ethnographic Research for the Sanak Islands Project (summer).
- 2003 Ethnographic Research in King Cove and Nelson Lagoon, Alaska (summer).
- 2002 Ethnographic Research in Sand Point (winter), Nelson Lagoon (spring) and King Cove, Alaska (winter, spring and summer)
- 2002-2008 Series Co-Editor for Anthropology of Pacific North America. With Herbert D.G. Maschner. University of Utah Press. A monograph series dedicated to the anthropology, archaeology, and languages of the North American west coast, the Northwest Coast, Alaska, and the greater western Arctic. Discontinued due to budget cuts at the press.
- 2001 Ethnographic Research in False Pass, Alaska (winter), King Cove (winter and spring)
- 2000 Ethnographic research in King Cove, Alaska (summer and autumn).
- 1999 Archaeological Survey for the King Cove Road project. July-August.
- 1998 Crew Chief, University of Wisconsin Arctic Archaeology Field School. June-August.
- 1998 Fieldwork. Status and Fortification in the Islamic World Project. May 1-June 10.
Investigation of Islamic fortifications in southern Spain and Morocco.
- 1997 Ethnographer, Alaska Department of Fish and Game Subsistence Division.
Conducted interviews with residents of Cordova, Alaska, for the purpose of evaluating the effects of the Exxon Valdez Oil Spill a decade after the spill.
Supervised by William Simeone, Ph.D., Subsistence Resource Specialist.
- 1997 Ethnographer: Under contract to study Aleut and Yup'ik subsistence and land-use history on the lower Alaska Peninsula and eastern Aleutian Islands, as part of a research effort to reconstruct the environmental history of the region.
- 1996 Field Assistant. Lower Alaska Peninsula Project. Participated in archaeological survey and test excavation in the Izembek Lagoon region of Alaska (eight weeks).
- 1996 Laboratory Manager, Arctic and North Pacific Archaeology Laboratory, University of Wisconsin. Professor Herbert Maschner, Director. Responsible for managing the laboratory and supervising student employees and volunteers in sorting, cataloging, and analyzing materials from coastal Alaska archaeological sites (nine months).
- 1995 Field Assistant. Unimak Island Archaeological Project, Brian Hoffman, Director. Participated in archaeological excavation of a late prehistoric Aleut village (four weeks).
- 1995 Laboratory Manager, Arctic and North Pacific Archaeology Laboratory, University of Wisconsin. Professor Herbert Maschner, Director. Responsible for managing the laboratory and supervising student employees and volunteers in sorting, cataloging, and analyzing materials from coastal Alaska archaeological sites (nine months).
- 1994 Field Assistant. Lower Alaska Peninsula Project. Participated in archaeological survey and test excavation in the Izembek Lagoon region of Alaska (four weeks).
- 1994 Laboratory Assistant, Arctic and North Pacific Archaeology Laboratory, University of Wisconsin. Professor Herbert Maschner, Director. Responsible for sorting, cataloging, and analyzing materials from coastal Alaska archaeological sites (nine months).
