

The following message was sent to all ISU Students informing them of the upcoming changes they will experience as a result of the Tigeri project. (The message was also sent to students without the aforementioned sentence).

Idaho State UNIVERSITY

Fall 2010 will be our first Banner Semester!

Tigeri, ISU's ERP* project, is integrating all of the University's data into one powerful new system. The new computer system, powered by Banner software, will begin providing new and improved services for students starting in October, making it easier for you to get all the information you need when you need it!

Look for these new features coming soon!

GoogleApps — Communicate and collaborate with others using Gmail, Google Calendar and Google Docs!	October 2009
BengalWeb — Access all the info you need in one location: Jobs, Announcements, Moodle, Events & activities, Library, My ISU and much, much more! Personalized and customizable!	October 2009
Admissions — See the current status and progress of your admissions application online!	October 2009
Financial Aid — Track the progress and status of your financial aid application online!	January 2010
New Registration System — No more queues!	April 2010
Online Fee Payment — No more waiting in long lines in the ballroom!	July 2010

*Enterprise Resource Planning, often referred to as the Tigeri project, is bringing many exciting improvements to the campus by incorporating all human resources/payroll, finance, student, and financial aid information together in a secure, integrated, easy-access environment.
