Financial Aid Channels

For students who've submitted 2010-11 FAFSA Applications:

Financial Aid Requirements Channel

- View remaining application requirements, access online documents to complete, and view financial aid requirements history
- A green check indicates a requirement has been fulfilled; a red flag means something still needs to be done
- Students can instantly see remaining requirements by checking the channel; email notifications will also be sent

Financial Aid Information Channel

award information beginning in March, as processing is completed

- Review awards, status of application, satisfactory academic progress, and holds
- Important: Beginning in July, students will need to come here to actively accept their awards and select disbursement options (replaces TranPay)

Work-Study Balance Channel

balances won't appear until Fall '10, after award-year employment begins

- Displays remaining work-study balance, placement, and supervisor contact info
