

ROARING BACK: University Rebound Committees

The following committees are charged with preparing the campus for immediate re-opening and for the Fall 2020 semester by facilitating university-wide policy decisions and client-serving operating protocols. The committee shall oversee those universal decision points that impact all of campus and to ensure consistency amongst divisions. We should prepare for the following scenarios: new normal, hybrid, and fully online operations. All updates will be posted online at isu.edu/roaringback.

Individual office reopening/staffing plans are to be approved by vice presidents and should be compliant with university-wide policies and protocols developed by the following subcommittees and approved by the Emergency Operations Center. Supervisors should work with their respective vice presidents to establish department-specific operational procedures that ensure proper social distancing and adherence to university-level protocol.

A Health Exception Proposal Form for summer camps, in-person courses, research activities, and on-campus events has been created for internal use. Submissions will be routed to the appropriate corresponding group to evaluate, provide feedback and approval.
