The purpose of this resolution is to make an academic change to the recognition of other institution’s credits at Idaho State University.

WHEREAS: Cumulative GPAs are not currently recognized by Idaho State University

WHEREAS: Idaho State University is branded as a non-traditional campus with a large demographic of our student body being transfer students either changing schools or resuming their pursuit in education.

WHEREAS: The general educational credits act as a buffer for a student’s GPA as they move into more demanding curriculum. Currently, a student that has completed his or her general educational credits at another university and jumps right into the curriculum of that student’s major of choice will have a GPA that only reflects difficult courses.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED: ASISU would like to see the administration of Idaho State University recognize a cumulative GPA in addition to the traditional campus-specific GPA.
