President Schmidt- No. Since this substitutes, he expects everyone to be there. Senator Kinzel asked if they are expected to stay the whole time. Lowell- You will be provided with a seat and an invitation to stay for the entire event. President Schmidt- Secretary Livermont will send out an email reminder. ASISU Social is on the April 24 at the Alumni House from 5:00pm-7:00pm. Secretary Livermont sent out a google calendar invite. All current senators as well as incoming senators are invited to attend. To avoid crowding the place, current senators may bring a plus one but new senators cannot. Lowell suggested that the swearing ins take place that night. President Schmidt- That is a good idea. New senators will be sworn in that evening. For the Inauguration, there will be an Ice Cream Social on the Quad on April 23 from 11:30am-1:00pm. Six senators are needed to help serve ice cream. Lowell- Please come at 11:20am and then the event will start at 11:30am. There will be six flavors of ice cream from Reed's Dairy. If volunteers are unable to be there for the hour and a half, they may split their time with another senator but someone needs to be present the entire time. President Schmidt- Secretary Livermont will send out a signup sheet. A layout for all of President Satterlee's Inauguration events was given. Lowell explained that an investiture is basically the crowning of the new president. It will be live streamed for any student who wants to watch it. President Schmidt- It will be more fun to witness it in person. Lowell- The fundraiser dinner is to raise scholarships for first generation students. There are only twenty seats left but they will soon be filled. Senator Kay asked if it was a new fundraising event. Lowell- This event is just for the inauguration but it may continue in the future.
