Student Wins NASA Idaho Space Grant Consortium Internship to Research Extremophiles in Deep Ocean

A summer research project by an Idaho State University student may give us some insight into what life might look like across the cosmos.

Recently, Rhys Ellis, a senior honors microbiology student from Boise, Idaho, was awarded a NASA Idaho Space Grant Consortium Summer Internship. Over the summer months, Ellis is analyzing samples of deep-sea sediments and uncovering what types of earth’s hardest organisms - known as extremophiles - call these sediments home.

A Idaho State University alum’s work while on-campus has netted him one of the most prestigious awards from the Department of Energy’s Thomas Jefferson National Accelerator Facility.

Help Us Share Your Accomplishments!

Our College’s outstanding faculty, staff, and students achieve many notable research and professional accomplishments. In addition, our departments regularly have newsworthy advancements. We want to make sure those stories are shared publicly. Here are a few ways you can provide a news tip to help get the word out:

Use this Story Submission Form to send your news tip to the Office of Marketing and Communications.

Send an email to Logan McDougall (loganmcdougall@isu.edu) with a brief description of the news to be shared.

You are always welcome to create a draft story, submit it via the Story Submission Form, or send it to Logan. The Office of Marketing and Communications and Logan will coordinate to get the story finalized and distributed to the media outlets/platforms that best tell the story.

ISU Leadership Development Program: Fall Registration

Are you interested in learning more about leadership? The 2022 ISU Leadership Development Program will begin on Wednesday, September 7, from 1 - 3 p.m.

This program provides professional development for emerging and current leaders. This year we will have a hybrid program hosted in-person in Idaho Falls, Twin Falls, Meridian and Pocatello, but we will also have a Zoom option for those working remotely, home sick or are traveling.

Back-to-School Headshots Scheduled for Aug. 18

The Office of Marketing and Communications provides free headshots for all faculty and staff. All headshots can be downloaded for free from the University’s photo archives.

Back-to-School open headshots will be Thursday, August 18 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. No appointment is needed.

Ian Parker Named New Title IX Coordinator

The Office of Equity and Inclusion is pleased to announce that Ian Parker has accepted the role of Title IX Coordinator.
