Relationships and involvement of the doctoral students	Relationships within our cohort
Cohort formatting	Personal growth	Extremely supportive doctoral students and faculty
Supportive faculties	Supportive advisors	Supportive doc students
Triadic Supervision	Family Theory Class	CSI Potluck
Teaching opportunities	Qualitative research class	Graduate assistantship
Family theories with Dr Coe Smith	Supervision with kleist	Practicum
Professors	Program	Internship
collaborating with peers	working with Master's level students	learning about research opportunities Supervision	Classes that bring in counselors working in the area	Lab
Going to Honolulu, HI to present at ACA and receiving the ASERVIC research award	Having five professors spend so much altruistic time providing feedback on my comps articles. I think (especially for the "jr. faculty" or those who need to have publications for their own promotion and tenure portfolio) should somehow receive credit for all the effort and work they invested into this process, ultimately with no return. Granted, I am not privy to what actually goes on at the faculty level so I am speaking from ignorance and a student perspective.	Having two complete articles to submit for possible publication
Systems Counseling course	practicum	group supervision
Learning from peers, doctoral students and faculty members and feeling their support	Having a great practicum site with several professionals who helped me develop	Being able to learn from my clients
Getting a new advisor who was actually engaged and responsive.	Hooding & graduation ceremony with my cohort.	Care & concern expressed by faculty and doc students.
Teaching Experiences	Faculty support	Academic growth and development supportive staff (mostly)	beginning to see clients	excellent knowledge base
Faculty support	Oral comp process	Licensure Assistance
Opportunity for hands on learning	relationships with faculty	support advisor support	quality of instructors providing classes	rigorous program yet supportive
I survived the experience	I had good support from some of the doc. students	I have a great internship location
family class	career class	end of semester
Pre Practicum	Role Plays	Sand Tray

Feeling like I did a good job on my orals.	Attending ICA Conference	Being offered a job at my internship site after I graduated.
I liked Roles Plays in family theories class	Dr. Paulson is an excellent professor I really liked his class	It was fun to start practicing my counseling skills in the community
Interactions with advisors	Interactions with Doc students	CSI workshops
Internship	Doc students	CSI
	I did not have any positive experiences

More involvement and availability from the faculty Clarity	Faculty being on the same page	Faculty being punctual
Have play therapy class no in the summer	Have nce pre class communication between professors	more support from staff
Less favoritism towards certain students	More faculty support	Better communication from faculty
I had higher expectations for multicultural class	Lab was always quiet and usually boring	The class load was really heavy
Heating and air on floor
Faculty more involved in extracurricular	More master student involvement in research	Classes that focus more on learning specific theory as electives
Having a consistent (and high) standard for the passing of the comprehensive exam	Having an equal workload standard for all GA recipients. Granted, I realize that volunteer to do more, however if there were some sort of broad criteria set it would be helpful.	Having all the faculty and all the doc students from Pocatello come to Boise/Meridian to visit (a barbeque at at park or Judith's place?) once per year :)
more faculty collaboration to reduce repetitive activities and assignments	More collaboration between masters and doctoral students	more workshops on theory and DSM V
Greater oversight on whether or not advisors are doing their jobs.	Checklist of major necessities and time frames throughout the program, for example NBCC payment deadlines which I almost missed due to my advisor.	More opportunities to give feedback on experience throughout the program.
Having more faculty	Greater role clarity	Improvement in communication
Required individual counseling for all counseling students	Required conference attendance	MFT program or accommodations offered in Meridian consistent faculty
communication of changes to program timely and to all students	slow down on so many changes. seems like a moving target.	climate in classrooms (extremely cold/hot) made it difficult to learn
Stable faculty	Classes taught by live, commiteed professionals	Less chaos more knowledge of what is going on	consistincy	better answers than check the handbook
Community projects	Additional feedback on assignments and papers	More group experiences
Having someone walk us through the paperwork that we need to complete to get our	Having someone explain before taking the NCE how hard it is to judge how your're license.	doing because of the questions that don't count. I probably could have been more relaxed during the text instead of freaking out!

Teacher organization	An advocate for school counseling students	clear expectations and due dates
Going over logs for Practicum Education about LCP earlier
