INTRODUCTION

The Department of Global Studies and Languages provides this Student Handbook for the M.A. in Spanish to provide graduate students in the Masters of Spanish program with the policies and procedures of this department and the requirements of the MA in Spanish. In addition to this handbook, all graduate students should obtain and carefully read the Idaho State University Graduate Catalog, which contains all pertinent rules and procedures required by the University.

Dr. Carmen Febles: Carmen Febles is an Associate Professor of Spanish at Idaho State University, where she teaches Spanish and Latin American Literature and Culture as well as courses specific to Spanish for the Health Professions. Dr. Febles earned her Ph.D. in Latin American Literatures from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Dr. Febles' recent published work has focused heavily on Latino migrant and border culture, including Chicana visual culture and diasporic community building through Spanish-language podcasting. Dr. Febles has also published collaboratively on topics related to migrant and refugee healthcare. Her areas of expertise include the Latin American colonial period, US/Mexico border culture, and US-Latino culture and literature. Dr. Febles is currently Director of the M.A. program in Spanish.

Dr. Helen “Cathleen” Tarp: Cathleen Tarp is a Professor of Spanish at Idaho State University where she teaches Medieval and Golden Age Peninsular Literature and interpretation and translation for health and judicial professions. She earned her doctorate in pre-Modern Literature and Culture from the University of New Mexico. Her publications in this area focus on the sentimental romance and the Quijote. Her current teaching position is both in Arts and Letters (75%) and in the Physician Assistant program (25%). Her focus is on identifying a problem such as low health literacy that creates a disparity and working with an interdisciplinary team and community stakeholders to design a tailored yet replicable response to the issue. She has initiated, designed, delivered, and published results from several culturally and linguistically tailored interventions –using both qualitative and quantitative methodologies- to assess knowledge, identify perceived barriers, and increase health literacy among Idaho Latinos with the goal of increasing patient self-activation and efficacy. Dr. Tarp initiated the baccalaureate program in Spanish for the Health Professions in 2014, the Graduate Certificate in Spanish for the Health Professions in 2015, and is currently the coordinator for the Spanish for the Health Professions at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Dr. Eduardo Villalobos Graillet: Dr. Villalobos is an Assistant Professor at Idaho State University as of August, 2023. His research focuses on the processes of adaptation, production, and censorship of the film and TV adaptations of La Celestina during three crucial epochs in 20th century Spain: The Second Phase of Franco's Dictatorship (1959-1975), The Transition to Democracy (1976-1983), and The Democratic Era (1983- onwards). Dr. Villalobos Graillet's current project centers on the International film and TV adaptations of La Celestina.

Dr. Marin Laufenberg: Marin Laufenberg is a Teaching Assistant Professor at ISU. She received her PhD from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2017. She has taught classes focusing on Spanish language, composition and conversation, Hispanic literature, and Spanish for the health and social services. She believes that by learning a language, you acquire a new window to understanding cultures and people. In her teaching, she likes using theatrical techniques, like role playing and dialogue creation. Dr. Laufenberg studies contemporary Latin American literature with a focus on Southern Cone performance and theatre. Her dissertation investigated the role of humor and laughter in dealing with trauma and violence in Argentine theatre. She has published articles on her research on Griselda Gambaro's Antígona furiosa and Eduardo Rovner's works in peer-reviewed journals. In addition to researching theatre, she also has extensive experience in the praxis of theatre as a member and co-founder of the UW-Madison Spanish language theatre group Teatro Décimo Piso. She has lived and studied abroad in Spain, Panama, and Argentina.

Dr. Karliana Sakas: Karliana Sakas is a scholar of the early modern Spanish empire, with a particular focus on the intersection between history and fiction. Her research interests include the literature and cultures of colonial Latin America and early modern Spain, indigenous narratives of the Spanish exploration of North America, and historical fiction. She has published articles in the Revista de Literatura Mexicana Contemporánea, Bulletin of Spanish Studies, and eHumanista.

Other Faculty: Faculty contact information is always available via the Department of Global Studies and Languages.

Welcome

Welcome to the Department of Global Studies and Languages' online M.A. in Spanish program. You will soon come to know the strengths and specialties of our faculty members, the support of our staff, and engage with your fellow graduate students. You will find an excellent faculty who will not only work hard to teach and mentor you, but who also wish to interact and exchange ideas and concepts with you. We hope that your studies in our department will be both challenging and rewarding for you and look forward to working closely with you to make this experience a rich and valuable one.

Online Graduate Study in Spanish at Idaho State University

Instruction: Idaho State University offers an online M.A. in Spanish. While the majority of our courses are completely asynchronous, occasionally a course will require synchronous meetings via ZOOM or another technology with your professor and/or classmates for advanced discussion, project completion, and cohort building. Office hours and advising take place via Zoom or other technology. In addition to the 15 credits of required course work, students may choose 15 credits of electives – at least 12 credits at the 66xx-level – which allows them to prepare for the M.A. exams or M.A. portfolio by taking courses in Reading List content areas. Students should plan to take SPAN 5500 or SPAN 5501 in their first semester.

Finances: As our program is online, we do not regularly offer teaching assistantships. However, our M.A. program has a set program fee for all students – Idaho residents and those from out-of-state – of currently only $330.00 per credit, saving students a minimum of $140.00 per credit. Students pay as they go and do not have additional fees. Textbooks are not included in the program fee. Currently, the total program cost is $9,900.00.<sup>1</sup> For information on student financial aid, go to the ISU Student Financial Aid portal. Program faculty do not advise on financial aid issues.

Regulations and procedures: The requirements, regulations, and procedures established by the Department of Global Studies and Languages and the Idaho State University Graduate School apply to all students in the M.A. in Spanish program. Please take the time to familiarize yourself with Graduate School regulations, policies, and procedures: ISU Graduate School.

Application Deadlines, Process, and Program Prerequisites

Application Deadlines: Review of applications may take 7-10 weeks during the academic year. Applicants should plan accordingly. Please check important dates such as when registration begins and semester start and end dates on the ISU Academic Calendar. If you need assistance or have questions regarding the application process, please email gradschool@isu.edu or call (208) 282-2150. Priority deadlines for application submissions are available on the Graduate School Website (<https://www.isu.edu/graduate/future-students/admissions-and-application/>)

Deadlines will be the following Monday should these dates fall on a weekend. Applications received after these dates will be considered after consideration of those received by the priority deadlines. If all vacant seats have been filled, the applicant will be advised to change the start date to the next term.

International Students: International students should consult the International Students page for a list of additional required materials or call the Graduate school. M.A. Program faculty do not advise on international transcripts or admissions.

Application Prerequisites: A graduate program is an advanced program of study.

- Degree-seeking students must hold a baccalaureate degree from a college or university regionally accredited in the United States or its equivalent from a school in another country.

- Applicants' Spanish speaking proficiency should be at least an Intermediate High level on the ACTFL OPI (ACTFL standards). This should be certified by the individual submitting the language evaluation on behalf of the candidate, and/or by an ACTFL OPI certificate dated within four (4) years of the application submission date.
- The GRE is not required<sup>2</sup>.

Application Materials

Application information: Application to Graduate Programs.

- Applicants submit a complete online application and pay the application fee.
  - Applicants send official transcript(s) of all university level academic work to the Office of Graduate Admissions at Idaho State University. Students may upload unofficial transcripts to the application while they wait for official transcripts to arrive. If accepted, students may not register until all official transcripts have been received.
- Applicants upload a 3-5 minute video Statement of Intent spoken in the Spanish language addressing a) their experience with the language, b) their goals, and c) how this program will help them reach those goals. This should not be a scripted response, but rather an example of your ability to speak extemporaneously in the Spanish language.
  - Alternatively, the applicant may submit a recent OPI evaluation (conducted in the past 4 years) as evidence of their speaking ability.
- Applicants must submit a Writing sample in Spanish of at least 2.0 pages (approximately 1,000 words) that conforms to the traditional 5-paragraph essay structure. A university paper or professional report written in Spanish would be ideal. If the applicant does not have such, then the applicant should write a paper on a topic of their choice demonstrating command Spanish and using the aforementioned 5-paragraph structure to support a claim or thesis.
- Applicants must provide emails of two references (non-family members).
  - One of these references must be able to speak to the applicant's academic qualifications and the applicant's potential as a graduate student in an online program in Spanish (Desirable qualities include passion for Hispanic language and cultures, intelligence, work ethic, prioritization and time management skills, collegiality, professionalism, and resilience.) This recommender will be contacted to submit a letter of recommendation electronically.
  - The other reference must be able to speak to the applicant's proficiency with the Spanish language and will be asked to complete an online form to this effect.

Acceptance and Conditional Acceptance

Acceptance: Upon receiving notification of acceptance, students must formally accept the seat in the program by following the instructions in the letter of offer. Acceptance of the seat initiates a process by which the student receives a student identification (Banner) number and is directed to claim both their ID number and an ISU email account. Upon receipt of the ID number and email, the student should contact the program director and provide both email and ID number to the director who will then be able to assign an advisor.

Conditional Acceptance: If a student is accepted conditionally, the student may take only one course (maximum of 3 graduate credits) per term until the conditions of the acceptance have been fulfilled. Conditions are explained in the letter of offer.

Transfer of Graduate Credit

Students who have completed graduate level coursework prior to acceptance into the ISU online M.A. in Spanish program may petition to have up to nine credits of graduate level coursework accepted. If a student wishes ISU to accept graduate level courses completed at another institution, the student must complete a petition as soon as possible during the first semester of study in the M.A. program. Students should initiate this process in consultation with their advisor. Please review the M.A. in Spanish Reading Lists. If the courses taken do not reflect the content areas represented in the lists, then do not request transfer of credit. The M.A. in Spanish program may accept up to 9 credits of transfer credit under the following conditions:

- the graduate credits were completed at an accredited university
- the credits were completed no more than 8 years prior to matriculation to ISU
- the grades in the courses were a “B” or better
- the courses support student success on program M.A. exams or portfolio by reflecting reading list content

The Graduate School must verify all potential transfer credits. Verification is completed only for matriculated students. In other words, there is no way to guarantee that transfer credits will be accepted prior to application.

Advisors, Mentors, Course Load

Advisors: Students’ first contact within the program will be the Graduate Program Director who will assist them with the application process, provide program information, and explain registration processes. Although the program director will always be available to the students, upon entering the program students will be assigned a primary advisor. Students may change advisors based on their interests and following the graduate school procedures for changing advisors. The student’s primary advisor will assist the student in the completion of any petitions for transfer of credit. Students must submit such petitions in the first academic year of study in the M.A. in Spanish program. Students should take the initiative to develop a strong relationship with their advisor and to look for different types of mentoring from a variety of faculty and their peers in the program. For M.A. students, among other things, the advisor will assist the student with planning a course of studies supportive of success on the M.A. exams or M.A. portfolio and with the selection of courses for each semester.

Mentors: The Program will facilitate contact between incoming students and students nearing graduation. This informal mentoring relationship gives incoming students to benefit from their peers' experiences.

Course Load: Graduate students are required to be registered for at least one 3-credit graduate course in both fall and spring semesters to remain in good standing. Students are not required to take coursework in the summer. Students who are unable to attend in fall or in spring should speak with their primary advisor to discuss our leave of absence policy (see below). Students may pursue their studies as either full time or part-time students. A part-time student is a student who takes 3-6 credits (1-2 classes). A full-time student is a student enrolled for nine (9) graduate credit hours--3 classes-- per semester. In general, a full time or "traditional" student is a student who is not working full-time while completing graduate coursework. We do not recommend that working students (non-traditional) students take more than six credits (two classes) of graduate courses per term. Non-traditional students seeking to balance their current professional obligations and graduate studies should consult with their primary advisor in order to create a schedule that balances work/life/study. Note that you are welcome to take additional credits without asking permission IF that third class is a personal development class (e.g. music, dance, yoga, swimming, meditation, etc.).

Rotation of Required Courses: The M.A. program offers program required courses on the following schedule. Electives are offered every term.

Fall (August to December)

SPAN 5501	Graduate Discourse
SPAN 5541 OR 5542 <sup>3</sup>	Peninsular or Latin American Survey
SPAN 6690 <sup>4</sup>	Graduate Seminar

Spring (January to May)

SPAN 5500	Advanced Grammar
SPAN 5545	Critical Theory
SPAN 6690	Graduate Seminar

Summer (May to August): Students are not required to take courses in the summer. Summer offerings vary. The Idaho State University Dynamic Schedule is located here and provides course start and end dates: https://ssb.isu.edu/bprod/bwckschd.p\_disp\_dyn\_sched. Please go here for important dates and deadlines: Registration Dates and Deadlines. If a student needs a particular course, they should register promptly (within 12 hours of availability) when registration opens.

Leaves of Absence

Graduate students are required to be registered for both fall and spring semesters to remain in good standing. However, in cases of illness or other life events, graduate students may ask for a semester-length leave of absence from the Graduate School for fall or spring semesters without losing standing. (Leaves of absence longer than one semester, or a series of leaves of absences, will not be allowed without approval of the program director and department chair.) To request a leave of absence, the student must email the Graduate School and program director to request it. The M.A. in Spanish program does not require that students take courses in the summer.

Graduate Student Code of Conduct

All M.A.in Spanish students are responsible for rules and processes outlined in the Student Handbook, The ISU Graduate Catalog, the Graduate School webpage, the Student Code of Conduct, and the ISU Academic Integrity and Dishonesty Policy. Graduate students are expected to comport themselves in a professional, collegial, and respectful fashion towards faculty, staff, and their classmates.

Professionalism is the conduct, behavior and attitude of someone in a work or business environment. Part of professionalism is academic integrity. Students will inform themselves about the University Academic Honesty Policy and will comply with all course standards. Violation of the Academic Honesty standards will result in dismissal from the program. Collegiality is behavior that recognizes the shared responsibility to work pleasantly together. Respectful behavior is conduct that shows consideration and regard for someone or something.

An important part of respectfulness in education is understanding that program faculty design courses to meet accreditation standards and discipline norms. It is the faculty's responsibility to maintain program quality while supporting students in meeting or exceeding those standards. It is the student's task to comply with course requirements and to meet or exceed those standards. If at any point a student demonstrates difficulty in meeting program interpersonal and professional standards, the student will meet with faculty to clarify expectations.

Degree Description and Graduation Requirements

Graduate Study: A graduate program is an advanced program of study focused on a particular academic discipline or profession. Compared to undergraduate studies, graduate school is a more concentrated course of study with greater expectations for the quality and quantity of your work as well as the expectation that students demonstrate initiative in and responsibility for their academic and intellectual development. In general, graduate programs offer focused studies in a specific discipline with fewer elective possibilities, rigorous evaluation of your work by professors and peers, and emphasis on producing original research.<sup>5</sup>

Degree Description: The M.A. in Spanish is an academically rigorous, advanced program of study in Spanish language, literature, and cultural analysis requiring at least 30 credits of approved graduate level coursework.

Graduation Requirements

- 15 credits of required coursework;
- 15 credits of approved elective coursework of which 12/15 must be at the 6xxx level;
- a minimal GPA of 3.0;
- a minimal grade of “B” in all required courses;
- no more than one grade of “C” (74% or higher) in elective coursework;
- a minimal score of “Pass” on all 3 sections of the M.A. exam or M.A. portfolio;
- a minimal score of Advanced Low on the OPI (or equivalent DELE score);
- a minimal score of Advanced Low in writing on the M.A. exams or M.A. portfolio;
- All requirements must be completed within 8 years of matriculation.

Graduate Level Coursework: Graduate level courses at ISU are identified by a course number beginning with the number 5, 6 or 7 and are restricted to students accepted into the Graduate School. Undergraduate courses completed while completing a B.A., B.S. or other four-year baccalaureate (undergraduate) degree do not count towards completion of the M.A. in Spanish.

After completing 15 credits of required course work with a grade of “B” or better, students choose 15 credits of elective – at least 12 credits at the 66xx level – which allows them to prepare for the M.A. exams or portfolio by taking courses in Reading List content areas. Students may graduate with one grade of “C” (74% or higher) in an elective course. Elective courses with a grade of “C –” or lower will not count for graduation.

Catalog year and Graduation Requirements: Students should note the year of their matriculation and verify program requirements in the Graduate Catalog for that year which is available on the university webpage. If the M.A. in Spanish program changes its curriculum, under university regulations students retain the option of following the requirements of their program that were in effect at the time of their entrance into the program, even in the face of subsequent changes, or of following the modified requirements. However, upon selecting a program of study, each student must meet all requirements for the chosen program. The departmental Graduate Committee will not waive this general obligation.

<sup>5</sup> Master's degrees such as the M.A. in Spanish are offered in many fields of study. Completing a master's degree usually takes 2-3 years. Some master's degrees are designed to lead to a doctoral degree while others are the "terminal" degree for a profession. Doctoral degrees are the highest degrees possible.

Content Areas/Reading Lists

The Spanish MA program consists of five content areas. Each covers a geographic area of the Spanish Speaking World during a specific historical/chronological period. The five areas are:

- Peninsular Literature and Culture I
- Peninsular Literature and Culture II
- Latin American Literature and Culture I
- Latin American Literature and Culture II
- US Latino Literature and Culture

Please review the program reading lists. Each reading list corresponds to a content area in the program. Students select 3 content areas --each having its own reading list-- in which to test for the M.A. exams or present work for the M.A. portfolio. One exam or portfolio area may be outside the Reading Lists if approved by the student's primary advisor, the program director, and the faculty in the non-reading list area who have committed in writing to write the exam questions for the non-reading list area and evaluating the exam or portfolio. For example, ISU offers coursework in TESL and some students choose TESL as 1 of their 3 exam or portfolio areas.

OPI (ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview)

All students will take and submit the results of the ACTFL OPI in Spanish by the end of the semester prior to the one in which they plan on sitting for their comprehensive M.A. exams or submit their portfolio. Students must achieve an Advanced-Low rating to graduate with an M.A. in Spanish and must provide a copy of the official certificate.

Students who have taken the OPI within four (4) years of their date of admission to the program and earned the required score before admission into the M.A. program may submit an OFFICIAL copy of the OPI certificate to the graduate program director. Students who have completed the DELE or department of defense proficiency assessment within four (4) years of their date of admission to the program should contact a program advisor and provide an official score correlation between the OPI and the DELE or department of defense score.

Students may take the OPI at any time but must take no later than the end of the semester prior to the semester of graduation. If the required score is not achieved on the first attempt, the student should work with an advisor to create a plan of remediation. Students scoring Intermediate-Mid or lower may re-take the OPI after completion of the remediation plan. Students achieving a score of Intermediate-High after the remediation plan process may request an oral defense with members of the Spanish Graduate Faculty to demonstrate their language proficiency. This request must be made in writing by the student by the end of the semester prior to the one in which the student intends to take M.A. comprehensive exams or submit their portfolio.

Deadlines

Application for Graduation

Students must also complete the online application for graduation by the following deadlines or defer graduation to the next term. The graduation application deadline is set by the Office of the Registrar and is generally within the first month of the academic semester in which the student intends to graduate. It is the student's responsibility to verify all deadlines here: Application to Graduate

Failure to submit the required graduation paperwork by the deadline will result in a delay of graduation until the next academic term. No exceptions. Graduation and Commencement

Students must decide if they will complete M.A. exams or an M.A. portfolio by the end of the semester prior to graduation and communicate that decision to their advisor.

Students must complete their OPI test by the end of the semester prior to graduation and submit results.

IS: Independent Study or Problems Courses

Independent study or problems courses are for exceptional cases of students who have exhausted all normal course offerings in a given area and who wish to pursue an advanced topic or a topic not regularly offered. Each student in the M.A. in Spanish program may take a maximum of six hours of independent study/problems courses as part of their M.A. program of study at Idaho State University.

What Grades Mean at the Graduate Level

Grade of A: A grade of “A” or “A-” in a graduate course indicates consistently strong and outstanding achievement. A student earning an “A” has exceeded all course requirements by the skill and originality of their written and oral work.

Grade of B: A grade in the “B” range (B+, B, or B-) in a graduate course indicates adequate completion of course requirements but may also indicate work that has potential greater than the final product demonstrates. Students must earn a “B” or better in all required courses to remain in the program.

Grade of C: In accordance with the Graduate Catalog, a grade of C or lower is failing at the graduate level. A student may graduate with one grade of “C” in an elective course. The M.A. program will dismiss students who receive more than one “C” or any lower grade in elective coursework. Students should make every effort to avoid such a grade. All program faculty are committed to student success. If you are encountering difficulties in a course, please contact the course professor and your advisor to create a plan of action.

Grade of C-, D, E: A grade of C- or lower is a grave issue and generally results in dismissal from the program. Elective classes with a grade of C- or lower do not count towards the 30 credits needed for graduation.

Grade of X: An “X” Grade is an “unearned ‘F’” and, therefore, will be treated in the same way as a grade in the “C” range or below. Students should always drop or withdraw from a course if they are unable to complete that course.

Grade of Incomplete: If students in unusual circumstances cannot complete the work for a graduate course. If a student has completed approximately 70-75% of required work in a course, the student may request an Incomplete Contract (INC). Any student seeking an INC must fill out an incomplete grade contract with the course instructor. Students may NOT re-enroll in a course in which they have previously taken an “INC”.

Students must complete any INC prior to the next term. For example, if the student takes an INC in a spring course, that work should be completed in the following summer prior to the first day of fall courses and prior to taking a summer course. If the INC is in a fall course, the student should complete any outstanding work during Winter Break before the first day of class of the following spring semester.

GPA requirement: Graduate Students in the M.A. in Spanish program must maintain a 3.0 cumulative grade average to graduate. Students falling below this standard for the first time must create a remediation plan with the student’s advisor and with the graduate program director. Students falling below this standard a second time face dismissal from the program.

The M.A. Comprehensive Examinations

If students elect taking exams as their culminating experience, students will take a written comprehensive exam in Spanish at the conclusion of their course of study through which they will demonstrate writing in Spanish at the ACTFL Advanced-Low level as well as appropriate knowledge of program content. The M.A. in Spanish Reading Lists currently represent the following content areas: Peninsular I, Peninsular II, Latin American I, Latin American II, and U.S. Latinx<sup>6</sup>. Students choose three content areas and the associated reading lists on which to be tested.

The examination questions reflect the three content areas/reading lists selected by the student and coursework completed by the student. The student and advisor will set the date of the comprehensive exam. The program establishes the exam committee.

- One exam area may be outside the Reading Lists if approved by the student's primary advisor, the program director, and the faculty in the non-reading list area who will write the exam questions for the non-reading list area. For example, ISU offers a graduate certificate in TESL.

Purpose: The M.A. comprehensive examination represents the culmination of graduate studies at the master's level and serves as a measure of the student's ability to synthesize a significant body of knowledge in a coherent fashion. It is the expectation of the faculty that students who have performed well in their classes and who have adequately assimilated the materials on the reading lists should have no difficulty in passing the examinations.

Scheduling: Students may schedule and take the M.A. in either fall (generally during the 9th and 10th instructional weeks of the semester) or in spring (generally during the 9th and 10th instructional weeks of the semester) semesters according to the established exam schedule. No summer M.A. exams will be offered. In order to take the M.A. comprehensive examination, students must:

- Have completed all required courses prior to testing
- Have completed at least 27 of 30 required credits prior to the semester in which they will test;<sup>7</sup>
- Have submitted verification of the OPI minimal score of Advanced low or equivalent DELE.
- Be registered for at least one credit hour but no more than 3 at the graduate level during the semester in which the exam is taken,
- Have a GPA of 3.0 or higher<sup>8</sup>

Structure: Students select three (3) of the Reading Lists/content areas in which to test.

Students receive 2 questions for each of the 3 areas selected. Students then choose one (1) question to answer for each of the 3 areas. Students write a total of three (3) essays answering 1 question for each of the three areas selected by the student. The examination questions reflect the reading list and coursework.

<sup>6</sup> Exam areas may include TESL, SLA, or Linguistics if students have established a plan with their primary advisor. For example, ISU offers a graduate certificate in TESL. Students completing that program may have TESL as one of their 3 content areas as long as they have complied with certain requirements.

<sup>7</sup> We highly recommend that students complete all 30 credits prior to testing in order to focus on exam preparation.

<sup>8</sup> To graduate, a student must have a minimal GPA of 3.0.

The student and advisor will set the date of the comprehensive exam and faculty establish the exam committee.

Delivery: Students receive the exam questions via email and will have 5 days to answer the questions in Spanish and to return the typed, 12- point font, double-spaced exam to the graduate program director by 11:59 PM Mountain Time of the fifth day. Students receive detailed instructions along with the exam questions. Students may use texts, class notes, and other materials to complete their exams. However, students MUST appropriately cite any information used from sources. The Program processes all exams with plagiarism detection software. Plagiarism will result in an automatic No Pass on all questions and dismissal of the student from the program.

Content and preparation: Faculty structure the exam to reflect the reading lists and not necessarily any specific combination of courses, although faculty do cover reading list items in their classes. However, it is inevitable that portions of the exams may treat some material included in the M.A. Reading List but not covered in a specific course. Students have full responsibility for reading and assimilating the material on the reading lists and for systematically preparing themselves for the comprehensive examination.

Grading: Two faculty representing the exam areas will grade the exams. Each of the three essays will be evaluated and scored separately by each faculty reader based upon the criteria in the MA exam rubric. Possible exam grades are “Pass with Distinction”, “Pass,” “Partial pass” and “No Pass” for each section. In the event that the faculty readers do not agree upon the student grade for an exam area, a third faculty will cast the deciding vote. The program will inform candidates of the results of the M.A. comprehensive examination no later than two weeks (10 business days) after the students return the completed exams to the department.

- Students must earn a minimal score of “Pass” on all 3 reading list areas.
  - Faculty will report a grade of “Pass with Distinction” to the Office of Graduate Studies when all faculty members rate the entire exam as passing, and the majority of the exam responses (at least 2 out of 3) as surpassing the expectations of the rating of “Pass”.
  - “Partial pass” in one area: If a student earns a “Partial Pass” in one area, but a “Pass” in the other two areas, the student will verbally defend the “Partial Pass” content area at a time and date established by the exam committee in that same semester. If the student earns a “Pass” on the defense, the student will have successfully completed the M.A. exam.
    - Failed Defense: Students who do not pass the oral defense of the content area on which they earned a “Partial Pass” will re-take that single content area with different questions in the following testing period during the regularly scheduled testing period. NO exceptions.
  - “Partial pass” on two or more areas or a “No Pass” on any area: The student must retake the entire exam the following semester during the regularly scheduled testing period. NO exceptions.

Students may only retake exams or sections of the exam one time. Failure to pass the examinations on the second attempt leads to dismissal from the graduate program. Students dismissed for failing the M.A. exam retake will not graduate and will not be awarded the M.A. in Spanish. NO exceptions.

Academic Honesty: Students must not plagiarize any portion of their exams. If a student chooses to use sources to complete the exam, the student must completely document EVERY source. The department submits all M.A. exams to online search software designed to detect plagiarism. ANY instance of plagiarism will result in a “FAIL” grade for the M.A. exam in its entirety. The program will drop students failing the exam due to academic dishonesty and those students will not earn the M.A. in Spanish.

MA Spanish External Questions & Agreement

Due to the flexible nature of the M.A. in Spanish, students within the program have the opportunity to take courses outside of the department in areas such as Global Studies, History, English, and other related programs determined in consultation with their program advisor. Before registering for any courses outside of the Spanish M.A. curriculum, students should work with their advisor to make sure that it fits within their overall degree plan and discuss how it may contribute to their M.A. Comprehensive Examinations. Ultimately, students are responsible for their preparedness for the M.A. Comprehensive Examinations. Students are strongly encouraged to select coursework that will aid in their preparation for the exams.

Guidelines for inclusion of external questions & readers into the M.A. Comprehensive Examination (Comps)

- Questions included in the Comps should represent a breadth of coursework – not a single course. To assist in this, a student must have taken at least 9 (nine) credits in an external area in order for that area to be represented on their set of questions.
  - Students should be mindful of the need to also cover the knowledge required to cover the remaining 2 areas within the Spanish M.A.
- In order for an outside area to be included as part of a student’s Comps, they must complete the “External Area Comprehensive Exam Form.”
- External Comps questions should be answered in the language in which they were written.
- Students may only have 1 (one) question area come from outside of the Spanish M.A. program reading lists.
- External readers may, at their discretion, assign students additional readings within the area being tested. These readings will then constitute a “Reading List” for the area, and will be treated in the same fashion as the lists included in the “M.A. Reading List: Hispanic Literature” document.

M.A. Exam Evaluation Criteria

PASS WITH DISTINCTION: This exam overall exceeds expectations for this level of graduate studies.

The answers receiving this designation have the following characteristics:

<sup>9</sup> If taking an exam from an outside area, the language of the response should match the language of the question. Students are still expected to meet the equivalent language proficiency standards identified for Spanish language exam responses.

written

- may have significant extraneous or erroneous material that detracts from the overall quality of the essay

NO PASS: This exam overall fails to meet the expectations for this level of graduate studies. The answers receiving the designation do one or more of the following:

- are written in Spanish that may sometimes, rarely or never meet overall expectations (does not meet Advanced Low standard).<sup>9</sup>

- demonstrate limited and inadequate knowledge of the subject being examined
- demonstrate limited and inadequate understanding of the MA reading list and, when relevant to the question asked, demonstrate a limited and inadequate understanding of how the readings relate to one another or how the readings relate to the intellectual, scholarly, literary, social, historical, and/or cultural context in which they were written

- may not refer to readings from the M.A. reading list at all or may refer to them only in passing.

Spanish MA Culminating Portfolio

Graduation Requirements: In the Spanish MA Program at ISU, one element of successfully finishing the degree is completing and receiving a grade of “Pass” on either a comprehensive examination or a graduate portfolio.<sup>10</sup> No summer portfolio option will be offered.

If selecting the portfolio option as the culminating experience, the following applies:

Graduate Portfolio Purpose: The Portfolio allows learners to showcase their academic experiences and coursework in at least three areas of the MA in Spanish. It will demonstrate a student’s learning experience, knowledge, and skills, achievements, personal goals, and self-reflection obtained throughout the graduate academic career and clearly show the ability to reflect on how the learners’s background, personal identities, and experiences intersect with their academic journey in the three represented areas. There are five areas in the Spanish MA- Peninsular I, Peninsular II, Latin America I, Latin America II, and US Latinx. A sixth, TESOL, can be considered, if a student has taken sufficient coursework in TESOL and has discussed with an English Dept. faculty member the use of TESOL as one of their Spanish MA areas.

Content: The Portfolio must contain–

- A Contextualizing Essay (2-3 pages, double spaced, size 12 font) in which the student describes their academic growth in the program as reflected in their projects, how they considered and approached revising their projects from their classroom version to their portfolio version, further lines of investigation they would wish to expand upon, and possible relationships between the three projects.
- 3 culminating or final projects from three different courses produced during their MA, representing three areas of study. It is highly encouraged that these projects be ones for which the student received at least a grade of A- in the course for which they were originally submitted. At least two of these projects should be academic papers with bibliographies (a minimum of 5 pages, double-spaced, size 12 font). It is highly recommended that their final project from SPAN 6690 (Graduate Seminar) be one of the submitted pieces. The third piece may be a project of the student's choosing (a video presentation, an audio project, a didactic unit, a third essay, a creative piece, etc.) that demonstrates important work undertaken in the MA. In order to assure breadth of the 3 projects included it is required that these three pieces be projects from 3 different professors' courses taken during the MA at ISU.<sup>11</sup> At least two projects included must be from classes taken with professors of Spanish. Up to one project submitted may be in English. Each of the three projects should appropriately utilize internal citation and also include a bibliography, listing any materials cited or referenced using a recognized citation style (MLA, APA, Chicago, etc.)

Every MA course offered in our program will contain at least one project that could feasibly be refined, adapted, and submitted as a piece of the Culminating Portfolio. Keep in mind that while the class rubric may specify certain grading criteria for successful completion of a project, it is every student's responsibility to adjust, edit, and refine that project, paying attention to the Portfolio rubric, to ensure it meets expectations for a rating of "Pass" on the Portfolio.

Projects included in the Portfolio MUST be individual projects from classes and cannot be group projects.

Process: During the final semester of studies, a student will either be enrolled in one 3-credit class or one 1-credit 6680 (M.A. Exam and Portfolio Prep) class.

The student will prepare their culminating Portfolio during the final semester of study as well. Students seeking any guidance or wishing to consult on the pieces of their Portfolio should confer with their academic advisor.

On a predetermined date during the 9th week of the semester, all students intending to graduate at the end of the semester will electronically submit their final Portfolio. All 3 Projects and the Contextualizing Essay should be submitted as a PDF document.

<sup>11</sup> The established MA program Reading Lists are to be referenced to guide students to make sure their three Portfolio pieces represent three distinct areas of study. The areas are Pen I, Pen II, LA I, LA II, US Lat, and possibly TESOL.

Students will also be required to submit the original versions of all three projects (exactly as they were submitted to professors of courses) along with the professor's feedback on those original projects as supporting documentation for their final portfolio.

The Portfolio will be evaluated by a committee of two professors in the Department. (These can be any professors of Spanish in the Department and will not necessarily be the advisor or strictly the area specialists.) If both evaluators agree on the outcome, that will be the final outcome. If a portfolio receives two differing outcomes from the two committee members (Pass AND Fail), a third committee member will be brought in to read, evaluate, and determine the final outcome of the Portfolio. All students will be notified of their Portfolio rating by the end of the 11th week of the semester (10 business days after submission).

The possible outcomes for a Portfolio are "Pass" OR "Fail".

If the outcome is Fail, a student will be given feedback on why the Portfolio did not meet evaluation criteria and expectations set forth in the Portfolio rubric (see below) and the student will be given one opportunity the following semester to present their Portfolio again for evaluation. A second failing grade will lead to dismissal from the MA in Spanish program with no degree awarded.

Academic Integrity on Portfolio: Plagiarism will not be tolerated, and students who commit it in their Portfolio will be dismissed from the program with no degree awarded. Even if projects that are presented in the portfolio earned a satisfactory grade when they were turned in for a course and plagiarism was not detected when they were originally submitted for a course grade, any plagiarism detected at the portfolio moment will not be tolerated. All three Portfolio Projects and the Contextualizing Essay will be put through plagiarism check software upon submission.

Plagiarism is well-defined in ISU policies and in the Spanish MA Handbook, but includes—

- Obtaining, providing, or using unauthorized materials or devices, whether verbally, visually, electronically, or by notes, books, or other means.
- Acquiring exams or other course materials, possessing them, or providing them to others without the explicit permission of the instructor. This includes buying or selling academic papers.
- Being assisted by another student or person in the preparation of materials presented as one's own OR assisting another person or student with materials they will submit as their own.
- Fabricating or misrepresenting information.
- Duplicating another's work or incorporating a substantial or essential portion of another person's work without appropriate citation.
- NOT including an accurate bibliography entry for every source quoted directly or referenced.

ADA STATEMENT

The Graduate Program in Spanish involves a range of activities, usually asynchronous, discussion-based seminars, as well as numerous other program-related requirements, which can include independent reading and writing; timed, written exams; extensive research projects; and oral defenses. The Department of Global Studies and Languages is committed to working with all graduate students to help them reach their potential in all of the components of the graduate degree. A student who has a disability that could affect performance of any component of the degree should contact both the Director of Graduate Studies in Spanish and ISU Disability Services at (208) 282-3599 upon being accepted into the M.A. program to document needs and to plan for the services that might be necessary. Disability Services determines what accommodations the student needs and provides guidance to faculty. We assure you that the faculty and staff in the department are committed to dealing sensitively and confidentially with all student needs. However, a disability is a private matter and students are never obligated or required to disclose it to Department members.

Academic Honesty Policy

The expectation of the M.A. program in Spanish, as well as Department and University officials, is that students will do their own work, and demonstrate respect for the work of others by appropriately recognizing, citing and/or following fair use guidelines for any and all materials and work produced throughout the graduate program. It is furthermore expected that Graduate students are familiar with the standards and procedures for the production of ethical academic work, including how to properly use a standardized citation style, such as MLA or APA.

The online context requires a particular level of student awareness of and responsibility to Academic Honesty standards. Faculty will advise students about parameters for assessments and assignments throughout the program, but it is essential that students be aware of and follow guidelines for exams, such as only utilizing explicitly approved materials. It is likewise of the utmost importance that learners respect intellectual property by asking, or receiving explicit permission before reusing academic materials such as PowerPoints, lectures, assignment sheets, and quiz or test questions for any purpose outside of the class itself.

Students desiring additional information about the standards of Academic Honesty and proper citation and reference documentation are highly encouraged to approach the Program Director, and/or their Graduate Advisor for information and resources.

Examples of Academic Dishonesty may be, but are not limited to:

- Plagiarism
- Fabrication or Falsification
- Cheating
- Academic Misconduct
- Unauthorized uploading or sharing

We hope and expect that measures to remediate academic dishonesty in our program will never be necessary. However, in cases in which a student or group of students violate the Academic Honesty standards upheld by the Spanish program, the Department of Global Studies and Languages, and/or Idaho State University, the following protocol will be followed:

- The Graduate Program Director and/or Department Chair will be made aware of the violation.
- A meeting will be scheduled between the parties involved and the Graduate Program Director and/or Department Chair to discuss the incident and explain the procedure to be followed to address the incident.
- Most violations will be reported to the Idaho State University Graduate School for evaluation by the Graduate School Advisory Committee.
- Depending upon circumstances, outcomes of such incidents may range from a failing grade on an assignment or in a course to academic probation to expulsion from the M.A. program and university.

For additional detail regarding institutional policies and procedures related to Academic Dishonesty in the Graduate program, see: <http://coursecat.isu.edu/graduate/generalinfoandpolicies/academicdishonesty/>

Handbook & Reading List Revision

To provide a stable educational experience for our students, as well as instructional flexibility for our faculty, the Graduate Handbook and Spanish M.A. Reading Lists will be revised on the following schedule:

- The Graduate Handbook shall be revised every 7 years following the internal program review.
  - Exceptions: The “Introduction” and “Welcome” sections shall be updated as needed, as shall any official catalog language (e.g. course numbers, course titles, faculty listings, etc.)
- The Spanish M.A. Reading Lists shall be revised every 2 years.
