

ANIMATIONLAND

May - September 2020

Idaho Museum of Natural History

Make a difference in over 7500 children's lives!

Tracey the pencil dog and her crew of fun-loving friends guide visitors through a magical world in Animationland. Hands-on interactives reveal the secrets behind the art of animation, while big, bright environmentals create an immersive setting. Light tables for drawing and a variety of stop-motion stations allow visitors to explore how they too can use animation to tell their stories!

Developed and produced by the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry (OMSI), Animationland offers a fully immersive, interactive exhibit where guests learn to incorporate animation skills into the creation process. This enables guests to understand the interplay that occurs between art and science and how they can apply those skills to tell their own stories in unique and dynamic ways.

"Animationland is a whimsical place where kids and adults can get lost in the creative process, even if they've never thought of themselves as artists," said Catherine Diaz, exhibit business development manager at OMSI. "The exhibit provides visitors with the opportunity to experiment with animation, then walk away with the knowledge and skills to do it at home. It's a DIY experience!"
