CELEBRATE FIRST-GEN WEEK

First-Generation College Student Week is a celebration to recognize people who are the first in their family to attend or graduate from college.

A student is first-generation if neither biological or adoptive parent has completed a bachelor's degree prior to the student turning 18 years of age.

Celebrate National First-Generation Day by

- Displaying your sticker in your office or laptop.
- Sharing your First-Gen story.
- Attending one of the events below.
